Sprott House offers a caring and warm environment for residents - a home away from home when total independence is no longer an option.

We help people to remain as independent as possible. So, as well as residential facilities, Sprott House offers a wide range of activities and outings for residents.

The complex is ideally located in the residential heart of Karori in Wellington, and is well situated for shopping and nearby cafes.

There are also excellent social and rehabilitation programmes managed in-house and many in-house activities (such as exercise classes) run by activities coordinators, a library, chapel services, bowling and bowling competitions, lectures and many other facilities.

You can do as little or as much as you please!
